5A Reading and Vocabulary: Does language change how you see the world?

20 وزارة ٢٠٢٦ العام

1) Many people do feel they take on a new identity when using another language. A 2006 study of bilingual Mexican-Americans asked them to take a personality test in both English and Spanish. Amazingly, the results varied, depending on which language each individual was using. Undoubtedly, how much you pick up a culture alongside a language will depend on how and why you are learning it, and whether you wish to become part of the second language culture, but it's fascinating to consider that you might actually be a (slightly) different person when speaking a second language.

In the above text, the author .....

A) points out shortcomings in a specific piece of research.

B) suggests an alternative explanation for linguistic relativity.

C) refers to research into the effect of language on character.

D) mentions a benefit to perceiving the world differently.

الحل والشرح

1 A) plump for 'Plump for' means choose, so 'What kind of car would we ideally plump for?' means which car we would choose. 'Click with' is for hitting it off with a person.

2 D) enthusiastic The book prints the personality adjective as enthusiastic in its adjective list. The other options are misspellings of that word.

3 D) trustworthy The book's personality adjectives include trustworthy. It matches 'reliable, responsible': a person you can trust with a baby. Defensive, immature and tough do not fit those two qualities.

4 B) enthusiastic Enthusiastic is one of the personality adjectives in the book's list, and it fits the contrast: someone very keen about work who is not very competent. Reference, rewarding and founder are not personality adjectives.

5 D) will have graduated 'By next year' marks a point in the future, and the Future Perfect Simple is used for an action that will be completed before a particular future time: will have graduated.

6 C) had been The Past Perfect Simple describes a state that happened before a specific past time. The two days in hospital came before the wedding party, so Sami had been in the hospital.

7 C) I am still reading the book. The Present Perfect Continuous is used for actions that began in the past and continue to the present, so 'have been reading' means I am still reading the book.

8 D) Before my children went on a picnic, they had bought the needed equipment. Buying the equipment came first, so it takes the Past Perfect (had bought) and the picnic takes the simple past (went). The book uses the Past Perfect for the earlier action.

9 C) We're too late! By the time we get to the city park, the festival events will have finished. "By the time we get to the city park, the festival events will have finished" uses the Future Perfect, which describes an action completed before a particular time in the future.

10 A) will be living The book uses the Future Continuous to predict something in progress at a point in the future, like "we'll be studying". By the end of the century, more people will be living in the country.

11 B) had been studying The scientist was interested in birds, and the studying went on for years up to that past time, so the book's Past Perfect Continuous is used: had been studying. 'Was studied' and 'had been studied' are passive, and 'have been studying' is present perfect.

12 B) has been working The action began in the past and continues up to now (for three hours, she will finish soon), so the book's Present Perfect Continuous is used: has been working.

13 C) will have finished The finishing will be completed before a point in the future (this time tomorrow), which is the Future Perfect: will have finished.

14 A) will be staying The book uses the Future Continuous to predict something in progress at a point in the future, like "we'll be studying". So he will be staying at a hotel next weekend.

15 D) Zaid had consulted an experienced engineer before he built his new house on the hill. Consulting the engineer happened first, so it takes the Past Perfect (had consulted) and the later building takes the simple past (built). The book uses the Past Perfect for the earlier action.

16 D) It was the party that Yousef invited Amjad to last week. The book makes cleft sentences with it + be. Underlining "to the party" means that phrase follows "It was": "It was the party that Yousef invited Amjad to last week". The others stress who or when.

17 A) had been thinking The book uses the Past Perfect Continuous for a continuous action that happened before a specific time in the past. Zaid's thinking was in progress before he received the text, so 'had been thinking' fits; 'has' forms are present perfect and 'had been thought' is passive.

18 D) will be organising 'This time next year' points to something in progress at a point in the future, which is the Future Continuous: will be + -ing. So 'will be organising'. The passive forms do not fit, because volunteers do the organising.

19 C) Before Khalid went to the sport centre with his friends, he had bought the last three tickets. Buying the tickets happened first and going to the centre came second, so the earlier action takes the Past Perfect (had bought) and the later one the simple past (went). Only option C puts it that way: "he had bought" after "Before Khalid went".

20 C) refers to research into the effect of language on character. The passage reports a 2006 study in which bilingual people took a personality test in English and in Spanish and got different results. So the author refers to research into how language affects character.
